A Note From Tech San Diego:

Tech San Diego has been busy (and we hope you've been too)! The last month has been filled with webinars, online mixers, and virtual sit-downs with students and members of our local tech community. We want to hear your ideas for future events and podcasts! If your student org/department would like to collaborate, reach out to Jarett Hartman at jarett.hartman@techsd.org.

T3 Podcast: Eric Borchert, Tandem Diabetes

On the most recent T3 Podcast, we spoke to Eric Borchert, Sr. Talent Acquisition Partner with Tandem Diabetes! Eric discussed working at Tandem, the family-like culture of their workplace, what he looks for in new hires, and their exciting remote summer internship program. And yes – Tandem is hiring!

A Day in the Life of a Data Scientist: Chris Smith, Teradata

In partnership with UCSD's Data Science Student Society, Tech San Diego welcomed Chris Smith (Sr. Data Scientist, Teradata) to discuss the non-traditional career path that led him from working as a Philosophy professor to Teradata, the skills necessary to be a data scientist, what a normal day looks like in his position, and the nature of data science in industry. Chris also spent time going through a number of student questions after his presentation. As a special note: this event series was created in collaboration with DS3 as a result of their input! If you have any ideas for future event series, please reach out!
